Grape Rot—Berry Moth.

My grapes have begun to rot and fall. What is the cause and what must I do for them? They look all right and are very large.

W. R. L., Horse Cave, Ky.

Answer: The description is scarcely accurate enough to enable us to decide whether it is grape rot or the berry-moth or both, which are attacking your grapes. The treatment for both can be combined. Grape rot is entirely avoidable by beginning spraying before blossoming, and continuing as the season advances. But spraying even now will cause the rot to stop. Grape rot is caused by the growth of the grape rot fungus in the berry. Under proper conditions of heat and moisture grape rot spreads very rapidly, often ruining the entire crop. The first spraying will check it and if you spray again ten days later, the disease will be under control and stop entirely. The spraying material is called Bordeaux mixture and is prepared as follows: Materials for preparing 50 gallons of the mixture contain the following: Copper sulphate or bluestone, 4 pounds; Quicksilver in lumps (not air slaked), 4 pounds; water to make 50 gallons. (If air-slaked lime is used, use one-fourth more.)

HOW TO MAKE BORDEAUX MIXTURE.

Dissolve the bluestone in about two gallons of hot water, using a wooden or earthen bucket. Pour solution into the barrel used for making the mixture and fill about one-half full of water. In another barrel or box slake the lime by addition of a small quantity of water, and when slaked cover with water and stir well. Strain the milk of lime thus made through a strainer or coarse gunny sack, and pour into the bluestone solution. If all the lime is not slaked, add more water until all the lime is used up except stones or sand.

Next add sufficient water to make the 50 gallons; stir thoroughly and the mixture is ready for use. As the material used is heavy, the contents of the barrel should be well stirred before using, to insure uniform strength of mixture. It is best to make the mixture fresh before using as it will not be so effective if kept for any length of time.

In addition to this treatment by spraying, it is well to cut or remove all weeds and plants growing under or near the grape trellises. This for the purpose of giving the freest circulation of air and a dry condition of the surroundings because it is heat and dampness which favor the growth of rot germs. If your vines are very dense and leafy, you can break off the ends at the third joints beyond the last cluster of grapes.

Apply the spray very thoroughly, allowing it to touch every part of the vine and leaves and berries. The job if well done, when dry should look almost as if the vines had been whitewashed. In regard to spraying, it largely depends upon the size of vineyard. If grapes are grown for commercial use you will find it necessary to use a barrel sprayer. For a smaller number of grape vines a small sized or knapsack sprayer may be used. If you have only three or four vines the Bordeaux mixture may be sprinkled on with a short handled broom.

WORLD'S POLITICAL HORIZON.

By PAUL LAMBERT.

London, June 25.—Never has the political horizon of the world been as clouded as it is now since the days when the great Napoleon played ball with the kingdoms of Europe. Everywhere is disorder and unrest.

Russia is practically in a state of revolution which only the strict censorship prevents from becoming generally known. Street fights which are regular battles are being fought in the barricaded streets of Loda.

The danger of war between Norway and Sweden is by no means over.

War between Germany and France is hanging over our heads like the sword of Damocles.

Austria and Hungary are in a state of the greatest turmoil, and that actual civil war has not broken out is due only to the love and respect of everybody for the old Emperor Francis Joseph. What will happen when he dies is impossible to foretell, but that his successor will not be the ruler of both countries is a foregone conclusion.

In Italy the people are being driven to despair by the increasing taxes, and the strength of the country is being sapped by the continuous emigration.

In the Balkans there is the usual confusion, the people of the various Christian states killing each other and the Turks massacring them all.

Behind the walls of the Konak in Belgrade, King Peter lives in steady fear of his life, a fear which has almost driven him insane.

In Germany the Socialist criticism of the Kaiser is sharper than ever, and that in spite of the great risk incurred in writing anything which displeases the Emperor. What the Socialists especially object to is the Kaiser's growing extravagance. He owns 83 landed estates, all of them models in their line, and many of them very profitable, although the men working on the imperial estates are paid higher wages than anywhere else.

The Kaiser is allowed an annual income of $4,000,000, but is always in financial straits, and the rumors in the English press that he had borrowed large amounts from Berlin bankers were undoubtedly true.

In Spain, King Alfonso is doing his best to keep his poverty stricken people from rebelling.

In all Europe England is the only quiet spot, and in the hands of King Edward lies largely the question of peace or war.

Patent Medicines.

A man that compounds or improves something is entitled to the largest share of the profits from the sale of the article, so he patents or copyrights. Patented goods are good goods, poor goods are never patented. We have 25 yrs. to prove we have the best medicine compounded for the cure of dyspepsia, sick-headache, biliousness, indigestion and all stomach disorders. We protect the public by keeping the formula a secret, as long as we make it we know it is made right. This medicine is Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills, 25c per box at druggists. One for a dose. Prewitt's Report.

The annual report of State Commissioner of Insurance Henry R. Prewitt recommends the enactment of legislation barring from business in Kentucky any life insurance company which pays any of its executive officers a salary in excess of $50,000 a year.

A Common Duty.

Every man, woman and child in the United States is interested in the question of improved highways. The failure of a hundred years of local systems has shown that the country can never have a system of good roads except by the aid and co-operation of the general government. Bills were introduced in the last two Congresses providing for this thing—the original bill in the House of Representatives by Hon. W. P. Brownlow, of Tennessee, followed by a similar bill in the Senate by Hon. A. C. Latimer, of South Carolina; the first a Republican and the latter a Democrat. The Brownlow-Latimer bill will be introduced again this coming winter, and the strongest effort will be made to enact them into law. The friends of good roads have a duty to perform just here and now, and we would address this not alone to the farmer but to the merchant, manufacturer, lawyer, doctor, mechanic, and all other citizens, not omitting the minister. Use your influence with your Senator and Representative. This is the only way to get this national legislation. Write them a personal letter. Where you can, talk to them. Let them understand that you know what you want. You must convince them by overwhelming demand, just as the dairy interests convinced them in behalf of the pure-butter law; just as every interest that secures desired legislation convinces them. Every argument is in favor of national aid to good roads. The question of constitutionality has been settled. The question of necessity has never been disputed. The existence of reciprocal obligation between the government and the people has never been an open one. The government belongs to the people. The money that gets into the treasury belongs to the people. The time has come for the people to make concerted demand for the return to them of some part of that which is their own. Good Roads would do more for the country than any other one thing that can be named. It is a fact of history that no country ever built good roads without the aid of the general government. No country ever will, because the local property simply cannot afford it, and never in all the history of the world has it been able to except in the centers of wealth. If the people want good roads, they must wake up and get to work. Don't wait for somebody else to start. Get your demand in on your own Representative and Senators. If all who favor the Brownlow-Latimer good-roads bill will do this, favorable action may be expected. Without this concert of action Congress will do nothing. Congressman Brownlow and Senator Latimer can't do the work alone. It is the common duty of the people to flood Representatives and Senators with letters, demanding this good roads legislation.

The Bourbon county grand jury which recently adjourned severely criticised the official integrity of the Bourbon Circuit Court,

The Independent Spirit.

Many a young man has declared at the outset of his career: "I shall be dependent on no one, but shall pay as I go and be absolutely free of all obligations." The spirit which prompts such a statement of principle is good. The men who succeed are those with the independent mind. But it is impossible, says Youth's Companion, for anyone to say that he is under no obligation for the things which he has received and enjoyed. Years after a rebellious youth has told his father that he worked hard at home and earned all that he received, it will dawn on him that no money can pay for a mother's care or a father's love, and if he have not a wife and child of his own, he will look with envy on these common blessings, not to be bought with money, that even the humblest enjoy. He may think that he is independent as he "pays his way" through college, meeting every bill as it is presented and accepting no favors; but if he looks at the treasurer's report, and analyzes its figures, he will soon discover that he has been the recipient of the bounty of kindly men whom he never knew and who never heard of him—men whose love for their fellow led them to give their money to the college for the benefit of all who might apply. A typical case is that of one of the smaller colleges, which pays $28,000 a year in salaries alone to the professors, and receives in tuition from the students only $12,000. In several of the large colleges the disparity between the cost of instruction and what is received in tuition is so great that they are seriously considering raising the rate of tuition so that the annual deficit may not be quite so large. It is not the college student alone who is dependent on the benefactions of others besides his parents. Civilization itself is the product of all the kindly efforts of those who have gone before—efforts made with the more or less conscious purpose of benefiting the children of the future. When the fact of dependence dawns on the mind the sentiment of gratitude is aroused, and finds expression in helpfulness toward others.

Kentuckians Say Government of Indian Territory Abuses Them.

Kentuckians returning from the Indian Territory en route to their homes in various sections of the State to visit families and friends were in Louisville Wednesday and some of them are pretty severe in their criticisms of the manner and method in which affairs are being conducted there by the United States Government and officers sent there by the United States to protect the interests of all the people.

At the Willard Hotel Tuesday were a number of ex-Kentuckians who went to the Territory a year or more ago to locate. They propose to return because all of their interests are there but some are indignant at the treatment accorded them by the tribal government especially.

The spokesman of the crowd here Tuesday was Judge J. D. Mitchell, of Pauls Valley, I. T., formerly of Winchester, Ky., where he practiced law for many years.

"Everybody in our section of the country thinks there was never any sincerity on the part of the Republicans regarding the passage of the Hamilton Bill," said he. "The people are up in arms about the manner in which affairs are being conducted there and on July 13 a convention will be held at Oklahoma City, which will be attended by delegates from every section of both Territories regardless of politics, to protest to the next Congress against the Statehood bill being tacked on to any omnibus bill with Arizona and New Mexico. The convention will insist that we be given Statehood on our own merits. We are a unit on a single statehood for the Territories now."

"We have no system of taxation, no taxation for roads or anything else. We are simply at the mercy of the Territorial Government. The land frauds are giving the Administration a black eye."

"The tribal government taxes the merchant 1 per cent. on his stock of goods and he is compelled to pay it. Some have resisted and only a short time ago a riot between the Indian police and the merchants was narrowly averted at Muskogee on account of this tax. What becomes of this money no one seems to know. One thing is certain it is not placed on the roads or used for the benefit of the Territory."

"Railroad rates are exorbitant. The Santa Fe has a perpetual injunction against the Chickasaw nation to prevent it from collecting one cent of taxes on their property. When I left Kentucky I shipped my law books to Pauls Valley. The freight from here to Memphis was $30 and from Memphis to the destination the freight was $170.02, and Memphis is half way."

Other members of the party spoke in the same strain, and one said that the Santa Fe had charged $700 to haul three carloads of freight forty-five miles.—Courier Journal.

Wants the $100,000.

Attorney Walker Hines, of Louisville, representing the old Sun Life Insurance Company of Kentucky, has made application to State Insurance Commissioner Prewitt to take down the deposit with the State of $100,000 in Government bonds which that company was required to have on deposit with the Treasurer while engaged in doing business in the State. Under the law three months' notice must be given of the request to withdraw these securities.

THE MARRIAGE GAME.

The pretty girls
And witty girls
Have not the slightest show,
But—
The nearest girls,
The sweetest girls,
The girls who have the dough,
The cunning girls,
The stunning girls,
May both be in the game;
But—
The richest girls,
The quickest girls,
To drop for maiden ransom,
The fencing girls,
The dancing girls,
Do try so hard to win;
But—
The banking girls,
Any spunking girls,
And pull the price in;
The laughing girls,
The chaffing girls,
Can always get a snipe;
But—
The money girls,
As fancy girls,
Will beat them by a mile,
The dancing girls,
The snatching girls,
Off set a killing pace;
But—
The wealthy girls
And surely win the race.

MOE'S WORK.

A Prisoner Taken From Jail and Publicly Hanged.

Russellville, Ky., July 5.—A mob of nearly a hundred men went to the jail and demanded the keys. Once in they were able to find only one of the prisoners charged with criminal assault upon the German girl, Mary Glader. The other three had crawled up the iron railing and hid in the big water tank near the ceiling.

When the crowd got well inside John Sacra, the man whose trial has been in progress since Monday, dropped to the floor and rushed out of the door. Several pursued him and fired at him, but he made his escape, running towards the public square and would have gotten away had he not met the sheriff and his deputies, who were on their way for Bowling Green, and they ordered him to stop. He rushed on and they shot at him four or five times, wounding him twice. One shot entered behind the ear, coming out of the cheek, and the other went through the leg near the thigh. Neither wound is thought to be fatal.

The shooting near the square frightened the mob in the jail and they hurried off with only one of the men, Jim Lyon, leaving Folk Fletcher and Guy Lyon in the jail. These two together with the wounded man were taken away shortly afterward on the train to Bowling Green. It is supposed that Jim Lyon, who was taken away by the mob, was hanged in the outskirts of the town, and that his body will be found.

FROM A CLEAR SKY.

A Downpour Startled the Residents of Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., July 5.—Lexington was flooded with a deluge of rain that came from a clear sky. This remarkable phenomenon was witnessed by hundreds of persons whose attention was called to it. The rain set in at 11 o'clock and fell in sheets for 15 minutes.

Old residents who were up at the time have stated that they never saw it rain harder. It stopped as suddenly as it began, and the stars were shining brightly as before the rain began. The weather throughout the day had been variable and the thermometer bobbed up and down. The maximum heat registered 81 degrees, the minimum 60 degrees. The barometer remained nearly stationary. No clouds or lightning during the night.

In colored quarters the ignorant negroes thought the world was coming to an end, and many a prayer was offered. Scientists can account for the phenomenon.

Special Officer Stevens sustained several ugly gashes in his face and head. Frank Combs had his jugular vein almost severed, and Bob McMillan was also slashed in the neck with a knife. The two latter are in a serious condition, but for prompt medical attention would have died to death. Six of the participants were landed in jail.

NATIONAL HOLIDAY

Body of Secretary Hay Laid in the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

IT WAS GUARDED BY SOLDIERS.

The Police Prevented Any Unseemly Din by Fireworks in the Streets Adjoining the Building.

Mrs. Hay Spent the Day Quietly at the Home of Mr. Mather at Glenville—Many Visitors Called During the Day.

Cleveland, O., July 5.—Guarded still by soldiers around the bier, while the halls of the chamber of commerce were patrolled by police, the body of John Hay lay in state throughout the national holiday. In accordance with the proclamation of Acting Mayor Lapp, the public in general remained from the vicinity of the chamber of commerce and the police made a point of seeing that no unseemly din was created by fireworks in the streets immediately adjoining the building. There were but few visitors at the chamber of commerce during the day. The information had been widely spread that neither the casket nor the room in which it lies were to be viewed and the guardians of the building passed a quiet and uneventful day.

Samuel Mather was the only member of the family to appear at the chamber of commerce during the day.
He came to consult with the citizens' committee relative to some details of Wednesday's funeral and remained in the hall where the casket lay but a few minutes.

Many Floral Tributes.

Mrs. Hay spent the day quietly at the home of Mr. Mather at Glenville.
Many visitors called, but to the majority of them she denied herself, the strain of the last few days and the duties of Wednesday rendering rest imperative.

All day long a string of messenger boys delivered floral tributes at the home of Mr. Mather. They came from all parts of the United States and a number were sent by foreign countries.

The flowers will be taken from the house to the cemetery, where they will be arranged about the grave while the services are being held in the chapel.
The funeral program is substantially as already announced. The casket arrived at 9 o'clock and was met at the depot by the members of the citizens' committee. Escorted by Troop A, Ohio national guard, the president and members of his cabinet were driven direct to the chamber of commerce. Ten o'clock was the hour set for the departure of the funeral from the chamber of commerce and on to the cemetery. Five miles away.

The Services in the Chapel.

The services in the chapel are to be of the simplest character. A quartet composed of B. W. Willard, H.
W. Whitney, F. C. Henderson and Harry A. Cole will first render the favorite hymn of Mr. Hay, Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," an extract from the Scriptures will be read by Rev. H.
C. Hayden, who will make a short prayer after the choir has sung "For All the Saints Who Prom Their Labors Rest."

The body will then be removed from the chapel and the funeral will pass up the hill to the family lot, where the interment will be made. The quartet will sing "Still, Still, With Thee," and the services will be concluded by a short prayer and the benediction.

Secretary Hoke of the Japanese legation, arrived to attend the funeral in McKinley Park.

An Heroic Bronze Statue of the Late President Unveiled in Chicago.

Chicago, July 5.—An heroic bronze statue of William McKinley was unveiled here in McKinley park in the presence of 15,000 people. The principal address of the program was delivered by Judge Peter S. Grosscup, a lifelong friend of the President McKinley.
Addresses were also made by Gov. Deneen, Mayor Dunne and members of the grand army.

Bronze Statue of Gen. T. F. Meagher.
Helena, Mont., July 5.—An heroic equestrian bronze statue of Gen. Theo.
Francis Meagher, leader of the Irish brigade in the civil war and later secretary of Montana, was unveiled in the capitol grounds.

Appeal To the President.
Hong Kong, July 5.—The merchants of Canton are preparing a petition to President Roosevelt representing the hardships of the Chinese exclusion treaty. Petitions are posted throughout the city, declaring a boycott of American goods.

Dropped Dead of Heart Disease.
Cheyenne, Wyo., July 5.—Mrs. Jas.
Jilich, mother-in-law of Judge J. A. Riner, of the United States district court, dropped dead at Judge Riner's home of heart failure just after the explosion of a giant firecracker in front of the house.

To The Public.

In a modest way and without claiming too much, the undersigned takes this method, through the columns of the Advocate to announce to the people of Mt.
Sterling and vicinity that he will open in Mt. Sterling, on the first Monday in September, a high grade Military Academy for boys and girls. The course of study extending from primary through academic will be conditioned to prepare students for entrance into the best universities; or, for those who do not aspire to college education, to supply an excellent preparation for selfculture. The faculty to begin with will consist of three teachers, all experienced and abreast of modern pedagogy. This force will doubtless be sufficient the first year. The number of school officers, however, will be increased as the patronage increases.

We trust that the good people of Mt. Sterling will receive our school as if there never had been a failure preceding us, that is in good faith and hearty co-operation. We purpose to establish a permanent institution, and we shall strive to achieve a measure of success worthy of the confidence and support of an intelligent and cultured community. Owing to circumstances, we shall not be able to reach Mt. Sterling until July 25.
After that date we shall be on the ground to personally superintend the canvass for students. Our catalogue will be ready August 1 or sooner. Assistance from any source thankfully received.

morning the fire company was hastened to Evans & Talbot's which was on fire in the roof. It was extinguished with slight dan-lation; that a burning fragment from fireworks lit on the roof. The stable is the property of Judge H.

SUMMER COON.

LEXINGTON, KY., July 3, 1905.

Mr. Editor of the ADVOCATE: As it has bin sum time since I have had anything to say in yore famus sheet it might be of yore pleasure to my frends to here from the Summer Coon once a year if no oftner. I was so sorry to hear of Dr. Drake's death. I will have to say as far as I know Mt. Sterling has lost one of its most noble Christian gentlemen, a man that I admired in every respect, and if there be a better place than this world, which we have no right to dispute, I am satisfied he is one of the number in the good Lord's flock. I think he did his duty as a Christian man in every calling since I knew him, which was twenty years or more. If he had any enemies I was not one of them. Wel, I hope all the people in Mt. Sterling is prospering and doing wel, whither this oear a snap or not for old Summer. I have no welth but a big hart. I hate no body, therefore I claim no enemys.
I have seen persons that I thought did not like mee so all fired wel, tho I lik them but would not bother them any more then we necessary.
My ider is when a person dont appreciate my company is not to form a hatred against them but just give them all surplus teratory you can spair and time will bring all differences right in sweet by and by.

Wel, it looks like the good people of Mt. Sterling is dropping out one by one in the last year or so faster than usual, but all is for the best, so says the good book, so we had better travel on the cleanest roads we can finde while journeying thru this world. Here in Lexington I dont think the tote fair with one another. All groceries and places where the people nas to go to get something to suply there tables is forced to keep closed on the Sabth.

I ran all over the city last Sunday trying to get in sum place to get a nickels worth of loney sassage. I was as hongra as a wolf. I had not bin up against what you might call a squar stumick deal for three days and nights. All the chickens and pigs being lying and runing when I got in sight of them. It looked like the new I had stumick trubles but my lord if it had bin bug juce I wanted I could of got all I wanted if I wer wel heeled. I suppose you hav heard about the strick saloon closing Sunday law. The real reason of the Sabth closing law is you cant get nothing without the kaie seed on Sunday. I will admit a blind man cant see any saloons open in Lexington on Sundays.
Yes, you city otheis are darsent to tackel us liquor men and gamblers.
We are the power behind the guns and well all you little soft-shell polititions no fit. If any body dots the calamaty water people in being the whole thing in Kentucky politics jest bring out a set of canadats that would infure the tam-rack Sunday laws sure a nough and wee will wipe the face of the earth with them. Wel, I will close as evry body as well as myself nose money and liquor runs America in law making. Its hard to tel how and what bases the other world is run on, tho I am inclined to think the dollars and bug juce wont be in it over there. That is one reason I think makes the people want to load up on those two items so hevy while here.

MASTIC MIXED PAINT
Can't be Touched for painting houses. The reason's plain. Mastic is the purest, therefore the most durable and economical. There is a whole string of "other fellows" claiming "just as good as Mastic" but they don't prove it. Maybe they can't. The analysis of Mastic is published. It's made of pure lead, zinc and linseed oil—the most durable kind of paint—and its purity is therefore unquestioned. As purity means durability, the splendid wearing qualities of Mastic have given it the title of "The Kind That Lasts," and this title is backed up by our absolute guarantee. Mastic is made by PEARLE-GAUBERT CO., Incorporated, Louisville, Ky., and we heartily recommend it to our trade.

DEATHS.

DRAKE.—On last Thursday morning at 10 o'clock the life of one of the most useful and highly respected, distinguished and loved citizens went out. The death of Dr. R. Q. Drake is cause for universal mourning. For years he has stood at the head of the medical profession here and he has through his profession given relief to more of the suffering than any man who had succeeded him or who has been a practitioner with him during the same period of years. Not only was he admired for his knowledge and skill but for the charitable character he possessed. Of him a practitioner said: "I have seen him under all circumstances and conditions and never could I observe any difference shown between the patron who paid and the one who couldn't. In fact said he I do not believe the money feature in any way controlled him in his practice." Another said: "I believe Dr. Drake does more free practice for the poor than all the physicians here." Such a man with such a record holds the hearts of the people. It was the late evangelist, Ben Bigstaff, who said: "I know I need treatment but have not the needed money with which to get it." So soon as Dr. Drake heard of it his best services were offered free of charge. We mention these few instances that the people may really know the kind of man that has gone out from us. As he was in his profession so was he in his church. Every Saturday he wrote his check for a handsome amount with which to meet the church's needs. He could be counted on for sincerity and with courage sufficient to carry into effect whatever had led to an unerring conclusion. He was a member of the Mt. Sterling Baptist Church. He believed in her doctrines and in love and power presented them to others. In the prayer-meetings, the Sunday-school, the regular worship, he gave his presence and influence, and to education, the missions, the orphans, the Gospel, he gave of his means liberally and his home was always open for the entertainment of God's servants. Whether in society, the church, politics, he was controlled by a principle and wherever he was called he ever made manifest justice, liberality and the presence of a christian character. In addition to his arduous professional work his people with the utmost confidence in his ability and courage had demanded that he serve as City Councilman which he did with distinction, and up to the time of his death he was a member of the school board of the Mt. Sterling Public High School. The death of Dr. Drake brought universal mourning and many tears, because of his real worth. The funeral service was conducted at the Baptist Church of which he was senior Deacon, by Dr. J. J. Taylor, of Georgetown College, and his remains were taken to Lexington to rest with his departed dead. The sermon was in keeping with the great and modest man, and the flowers though rare and profuse were meager expressions of love. It required a special coach to take the funeral party to Lexington. They were met by sympathetic friends anxious to do honor to him they loved. Dr. Drake will never be seen on earth again—but his deeds will live on and on those last words, "Tell my brethren to be diligent" will live on and Dr. Drake through them to generations yet to come. May the Lord raise up others like unto him. His life a book of golden deeds, his reward a rich inheritance in the kingdom of God. Dr. Drake was born March, 1846, in Lexington. Came here in 1861. Began the practice of medicine 1867. Was twice married. His first wife was Miss Laura D. Martin who preceded him to Heaven in 1877. They had two children who died in infancy. His second marriage was to Miss Sallie Harris Brown, October 11, 1883, who with four children, Ann Laura, Ben, Mrs. J. R. Hoobe and Roger survive him.

MOORE.—Mrs. W. H. Moore died at her home in this city Thursday, June 29, 1905, of a complication of diseases, aged 50 years. Mrs. Moore's maiden name was Webster, sister of David Webster, of this county. She was twice married—first to George Alexander, who died in 1894. Four children survive them. Her second marriage was to W. H. Moore, who survives her. Mrs. Moore was a member of the Christian Church. The funeral was at the Christian Church Saturday, July 1, by Rev. H. D. Clark, and burial in Macphelah Cemetery.

DAVIS.—John Davis, aged about 68 years, died at his home near this city, Monday evening, July 3, 1905, of Bright's disease. The funeral was at the residence Wednesday morning by Rev. H. G. Turner, of the Methodist Church, of which he was a member, and the burial was in the family burying ground on Winchester pike. Mr. Davis was one of Montgomery county's best citizens. He moved to this city last spring.

KINCAID.—Mrs. Geo. Kincaid, aged about 60 years, died of paralysis at her home in the Grassy Lick neighborhood on Saturday, July 1, 1905. She leaves a husband and five children to mourn her loss. The burial was in the Cassity graveyard in Bath county on Monday.

KENDALL.—Mrs. W. H. Kendall, daughter of the late Dr. McDowell, of Flemingsburg, sister-in-law of Mrs. Mary Kendall, who is visiting her sisters, Mrs. Silas Stoffer and Mrs. B. F. Thomson, died suddenly at her home in Flemingsburg Wednesday.
